

Perpetual Living Building services offer the service of a genuine design and construct builder. When we discuss your project at the beginning, you will be talking to the person that will be managing the contractors as well, ensuring that your original brief doesn't get 'lost in translation'

We hold full membership with the Building designers Association of NSW, thereby ensuring we are up to speed with developments in the industry, and are often part of the process in the ever changing face of building design.

We can also offer Energy efficiency ratings as a part of the design process, allowing you to make decisions regarding design and materials based on how they affect the energy efficiency of your home.

By using Perpetual Living Building Services, you can be assured that your desired outcome, your budget and your expectations are always taken seriously.
